Big Ideas for Small Batches

Welcome to the world of small batch production. Today it's one part. Tomorrow it's another. One automotive supplier is meeting that challenge, thanks to a Sterling automated system for loading and unloading a 2,000-ton SMC press. When a customer calls for a new part, no problem.

The tooling changes, but not the handling system.

If that sounds like a smart idea to you, call us.

We'll show you how our "keep it simple" approach to robotics and automation can benefit you.
